The Power of Your Birthday

What's Your Number

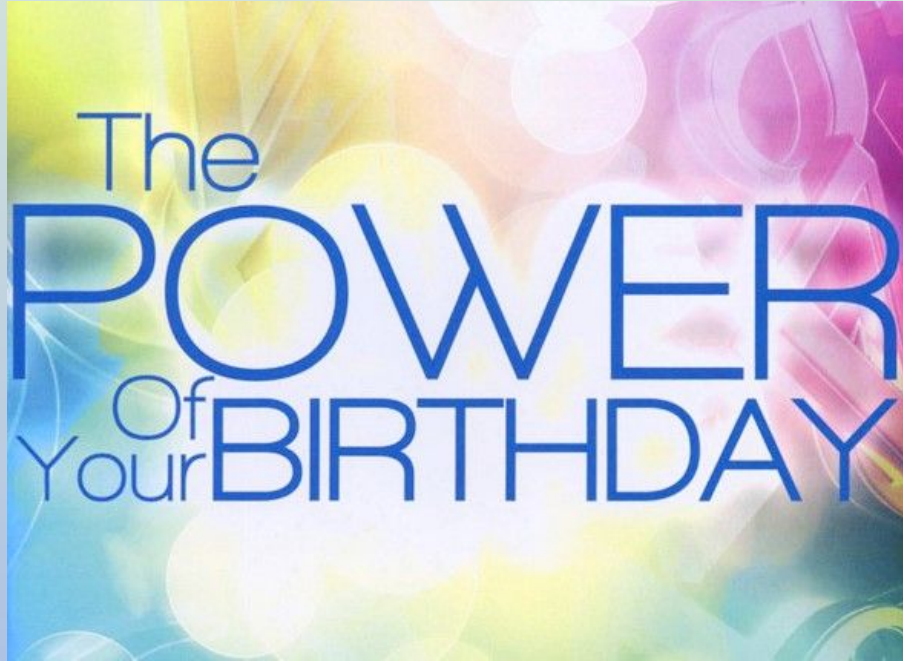

Imagine this: every question that you may have has an answer. And that answer not only lies inside of you but also lies in numbers. The whole universe is made of numbers. Calculating and organizing them into a pattern gives us an enormous amount of information about ourselves – past, present and future. The science that describes these numbers and patterns is called Yogic Numerology. It is said to be the oldest system known to humankind, the most sacred and the most accurate.

This uplifting and entertaining online course is taught by Yogi Akal, the master of Yogic Numerology. He provides you with an introduction to the science of numbers and a methodology to finding your path, a source of direction and fulfillment for your life.
